Flatcap Pattern

Firstly, welcome and thank you for supporting my patterns. My aim is to create patterns that are easy and fun to follow, as well as allowing you to produce items that are high quality.
As always when using someone elses patterns there may be a time that things become confusing or make little sense, I sure as hell do this to myself regularly! If this is the case then please do not hesitate to contact me on Facebook - Luvia Leather or through Instagram - LuviaLeather.
Of course if you have not linked with me then please do and help support future patterns.
A few other points that I need to cover, once you've finished your item from the pattern, it would be great to see your work by either tagging Luvia Leather and/or posting to our pages, again this is a huge help for development of future patterns and it's always great to connect with as many people as possible.
Lastly, the "nasty" must be said, once you have the pattern, all I ask is that you use it for yourself, please do not give it to anyone or re-distribute it, this just makes it harder to create further patterns.
Now that's out the way, lets go have fun!

Flatcap Pattern

This pattern was created for my head, it's a size 58, if you need smaller or larger then you can use this formular to calculate the percentage size that you need to print at:

size 58 = 100% print
size you need / 58 *100 = Print Percentage
Take this percentage and change the print scale to this or nearest value. Print out the Scale Page and check the measurement to confirm.
Print Percentage * Scale size (5cm or 3 In) (The scale I have given should match up to your calculation

Materials Needed:

1. Leather : For the main cap I used 2 -2.5mm (4-5 ounce) Veg-Tan Leather, although any leather that has a similar thickness can be used. For the Rim, I used 2.5 mm Veg-Tan and for the brim I used 4mm Veg-Tan Leather.
2. Hammer / Mallet.
3. 1mm and 1.5mm Round hole singular punch
4. 0.8 mm-1mm Thread
5. Edge Finisher
6. Bevel
7. Cutting device
